AeroAggregates Booth 26

Archie Filshill
215-416-7373
archie@aeroaggregates.com

Foamed glass aggregates are produced from 100% curbside recycled glass and have been in use in Europe for over 25 years. Due to their very low unit weight (8-15pcf) and high friction angle (54°), their applications have grown throughout the civil engineering market. Today foamed glass aggregates are used as lightweight fill on highways, bridge abutments, retaining walls, backfill of foundations for drainage, insulation (prevention of frost heave) and reduction of lateral loads against structures. Other environmental applications include greenroofs, odor and evaporation control. AeroAggregates is headquartered in Eddystone, PA.
